of Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALI GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 17 .- Secretary of Commerce Hoover in a speech here to-day on "Eighteen Months of Business in Governmen?' reviewed the work and accomplishments of the Harding Administration.

When the Administration came into power in March, 1921," he said, "we were in the midst of the greatest commodity crisis in our history, wherein prices had fallen an average of 40 per ent. and the industrial productivity of the country was operating on less than a 60 per cent. basis. We were confronted with stagnation of commerce, business and industry.

'We were faced with 4,000,000 or 5.000,000 unemployed. Our commerce was suffering from overwhelmin taxes. The administration of the Government was wasteful and extravagant. Our expenditures on armament were enormous and threatened further increases. We were still without peace with Germany and Austria. We were in the midst of gigantic naval races with Great Britain. We were steadily drifting into war with Japan. Respect for America abroad was at its lowest
